INTRODUCTION

Overview

This is the eleventh annual report on nursing faculty salaries published by the Institutional Data System (IDS) of the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN). The salaries reported here represent 7,515 full-time nursing faculty employed in baccalaureate and graduate programs in AACN member schools. Of the 401 schools surveyed in fall 1988, 357 members or 89 percent returned questionnaires with some data about 7,857 faculty members.

The first section of the Faculty Salaries Report summarizes key facts from the survey. Section 2 describes the methods used in the survey. A brief discussion of the results appears in Section 3. Section 4 contains the tables presenting salary data calculated for both academic and calendar years. Each table shows four faculty ranks; doctoral preparation; and three types of institutional status: public, private/secular, and private/religious. These tables represent different geographic regions of the country, types of programs, and type of parent institution.

The 1988-89 IDS Survey Series consists of three reports: Enrollment and Graduation Data, Faculty Salaries, and Deans' Salaries. Each of the three reports can be used independently of the others. As an additional service, AACN provides each member school with a computer printout showing its rankings with peer group schools on selected variables. Begun in 1980, this standard printout includes a count of baccalaureate and master's graduates for the preceding year with percent increase or decrease, number of full-time faculty and percent of full-time faculty with doctorates, faculty salaries, and percent salary gain for all faculty in the school. Customized printouts of selected variables and/or specific comparison groups may be requested by institutions. At all times the confidentiality of sensitive data provided by member and nonmember schools is guaranteed.

Background of the Institutional Data System

The Data Bank Project was established officially by AACN in 1978. The purpose of the project was to develop a database to support policy research and decision making for member schools and for the organization. Priority was placed on the development and refinement of the salary surveys. Since 1979, the report series has been published annually and consists of three components: salaries of full-time nursing faculty, salaries of nursing deans, and salaries of faculty in administrative positions. The Report on Salaries of Administrative Faculty was released annually until 1984 when it was placed on an alternate year schedule. The report was included in the 1987-88 series.

In 1982, requests from AACN members led to the production of a report on enrollment and graduations in baccalaureate and graduate programs in nursing that would accompany the salary reports. The following year, concern about shifts in enrollment resulted in an analysis of institutional data for four years in order to identify trends. A five-year trend analysis has been included in this series since 1988.

In 1987, sustained concern for enrollment and graduation figures resulted in a shift of priorities in report production. The report on enrollment and graduation data is now the first of the IDS data to be published. In order to discern more comprehensive national enrollment and graduation patterns, the survey was sent to nonmember institutions for the first time in 1988-89. The Report on Enrollment and Graduations was published first in the 1988-89 series. Faculty salaries is the second report published in this series.

Section 1. Demographic Information

Characteristics of survey participants are summarized to provide background for the salary data. In fall 1988, the annual IDS survey was sent to 401 member schools. Questionnaires were returned by 357 members. A breakdown of schools by region showed the following distribution: Southern Region, 34 percent; Midwestern Region, 29 percent; North Atlantic Region, 23 percent; and Western Region, 14 percent. Sixty-nine percent of the institutions that returned surveys were public, 16 percent were private/religious, and 15 percent were private/secular. Universities represented 85 percent of the institutions that returned surveys, while 14 percent of the returns came from four-year colleges, and one percent were from consortium schools. Forty-four percent of the schools were located in academic health centers.

A summary version of the data for mean faculty salaries in all schools is presented as Table 1.

Section 2. Methods

The surveys consist of four components: institutional data, faculty salaries, deans' salaries, and administrative faculty salaries. The institutional data not only provide information on enrollment and graduations in member schools, but also provide information for classifying schools into categories of region, type and size of programs, type of institution, and source of financial support. These are the categories that structure the tables presented in Section 4.

Survey Techniques

Survey forms were mailed to schools in August 1988. Follow-up telephone calls were made in November and December. An 89 percent response rate overall was obtained. All respondent surveys were used to calculate faculty salary figures.

Data Analysis and Presentation

Seventy-three percent of all full-time faculty salaries were originally reported on an academic year basis, ranging from $10,750 to $80,000. Salaries reported on a calendar year basis constituted 27 percent of the total full-time faculty salaries and ranged from $10,000 to $108,000. As in previous years, all salary figures were converted to either an academic or calendar year basis for comparative purposes.

The preparation of tables involved the conversion of salary from each individual, whether on an academic or calendar year basis, to an equivalent amount on the other basis. Thus, each set of tables represents the entire sample of respondents. To do this, salary data based on the calendar year were multipled by nine-elevenths (9/11), converting them to academic year data; and salary data based on an academic year were multiplied by eleven-ninths (11/9), converting them to calendar year data.

Terminology

Survey forms included some operational definitions in the instructions. In general, these terms are defined by common usage in the academic community. To ensure clear interpretation of the reports however, the following terms are defined:

- School: the nursing unit in a higher education institution that offers baccalaureate and higher degree programs in nursing.
- Academic health center: any institution that includes a school of medicine, a teaching hospital, and at least one additional health educational program, specifically nursing.
- Nursing faculty: nurses teaching in a baccalaureate or graduate nursing program; it does not include nonnurses, adjunct faculty, teaching assistants, or research assistants.
- Part-time faculty: nurses who hold a faculty appointment and receive some compensation from the school of nursing but are not considered full-time.
- Salary: the current fiscal year compensation figure; it should include the total amount before any deductions are made (such as: tax sheltered annuities, contributions to retirement funds,insurance, etc.)
- Salary basis: determined by the length of time spent teaching; the academic year is 9 or 10 months and the calendar year is 11 or 12 months.

Section 3. Results and Discussion

Mean salaries for all schools participating in the current survey are presented in Table 2. Four nursing faculty ranks for faculty with and without doctoral preparation are classified. Of the 7,857 faculty reported in the survey, 7,515 are included in the salary tables. Clinical specialists, lecturers, and visiting professors were not included in the final analysis. Changes in the number of faculty reported in tables are due to incomplete respondent surveys. Table 3 displays the 25th, 50th, and 75th percentiles for all institutions by rank and doctoral preparation.

Information on the gender and ethnic background of faculty were collected for the first time in 1988-89. Ninety-eight percent of the faculty were female and 91 percent were white. Graph 1 displays the ethnic background of faculty.

Graph 1. Ethnic Background of Faculty in Participating Schools in 1988-89

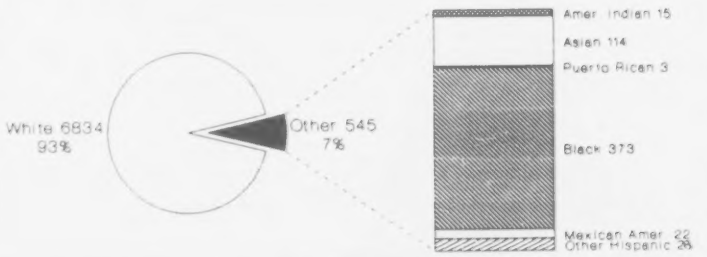

Table 4 reveals the number of schools, of faculty, and of doctorally prepared faculty since 1978. While the number, as well as the percent, of faculty with doctoral preparation continues to increase, the total number of faculty declined for the first time. Of the total faculty (N=7,857) in the survey, 3,055 or 38.9 percent had earned doctorates. This is an increase of five percent from the prior year. Changes in the number of doctorally prepared faculty since the first survey are depicted in Graph 2.

Section 4. Tables of Faculty Salaries

Data are presented on both an academic year and a calendar year basis. These two sections of the report each contain a set of tables with academic year or calendar year salary figures. Major determinants of salary include academic rank and degree level, and all tables display figures for these groups separately. The major institutional classifications are: public, private/secular, and private/religious. These classifications are also displayed on all tables.

The first table in this section presents data for all schools as well as for the institutional classifications. The tables that follow present data by geographic region, by type of programs offered, and by type of parent institution. The pattern used for presenting salary data for each rank and degree level is consistent throughout the report for both academic and calendar year data.
